FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q. I've never been to a clinic before and I'm nervous about it, how can I prepare?

A. Our clinics are a fun, relaxed, supportive learning environment. Your concern will dissipate in the first few minutes of the clinic. Just bring an open mind and a willing heart.

Q. Do I need my own horse for the clinic?

A. Yes.

Q. How much experience do I need to participate in a clinic?

A. All levels are welcome in all clinics except the advanced roping, and branding clinics.

Q. I already rope, can I come to an advanced roping or branding clinic?

A. All students that want in an advanced roping or branding clinic must have attended at least one of OUR regular roping clinics and be approved for admittance into advanced clinics.

Q. I've been to lots of roping clinics with other clinicians and I rope really well, can I skip your regular clinic requirement and just get in the advanced roping or branding clinic?

A. No. All students that want in an advanced roping or branding clinic must have attended at least one of OUR regular roping clinics and be approved for admittance into advanced clinics.

Q. How many horses can I bring/ride in the clinic?

A. Horsemanship, cow working and regular ranch roping clinics only allow one horse for the duration of the clinic. Some students bring a back-up horse in the event the horse they have selected for the clinic becomes ill, sore or lame. In the event of such an occurrence, switching to the back-up horse shall be at the discretion of The Californios Inc. Advanced roping and branding clinics allow a maximum of two horses, though only one is required.

Q. Are there additional fees due when I arrive at the clinic?

A. Clinics that require cattle frequently have a stock charge, though that is at the discretion of the clinic sponsor and is collected by them. Stall fees may or may not be due depending on the facility requirements. A facility fee may be required for clinics that are held in covered arenas. Please check with the individual clinic sponsor in advance for information on the above fees and any additional fees that may be required.

Q. Should my horse be shod for the clinic?

A. Horses are usually more comfortable shod but the choice ultimately is up to the rider.

A. No. Anyone watching the clinic must pay an auditing fee.

Q. Can I video or have someone else video the clinic?

A. No. Videoing is prohibited.

Q. Can I take still photos or have a friend take still photos at the clinic?

A. Since it is impossible to distinguish the difference between a smart phone "still" and a smart phone video being taken, no. Stationary stills (group shot, record the moment) may be taken before or after the clinic.

Q. Can I bring my dog to the clinic?

A. Be sure to check with the clinic sponsor regarding the dog policy for the clinic.

Q. Do we break for lunch?

A. Clinics go on rain or shine unless otherwise stated by The Californios Inc.

Q. Can I trade horses with my friend halfway through the clinic?

A. No.
